HOLLY OSBORNE

Garden Party, 2025

Garden party is a celebration of the beauty in nature around us.

Much of the work is from direct observation from various places that I've been this past year- walks in my local Portland neighborhood, a distant Sicilian residency, a trip to France.

Some paintings in this collection represent dreams as well as what appears on canvas without looking at anything, what's called automatic drawing.

In this style- the more "abstract" works, I usually paint until a figure shows itself and then I am satisfied with it.
